A SLIGHT MISTAKE, -Some time ago a few ladies started out to beg some money to buy a poor preacher a suit of clothes, and among the places they went to, was a work shop where a large number of hands were employed. "cant you give us something rowards buying a poor preacher a suit of clothes." The man did not hear the latter part of the sentence. "a suit of clothes," and pulled out two deliars and handed her. The lady was a little surprised at the liberal contribution, but said nothing, and passed on to the next man. This man hearing the whole sentence made no contribution, and when the lady left him, went to the first man who had contributed so liberally, and asked him if he gave anything. "Certainly," said he, "I gave two dellars toward burying the poor devil." "Burying him!" said the second man, "it was to buy him a suit of clothes." Well, if that liberal contributor didn't weep and howl for a short while. After he had esoled down enough he went to the lady, who was some distance off, and told her be must have the two dollars back. She, with asterishment, asked him why the sudden change, "I thought it was to bury the preacher; I was willing to contribute to ward that object, but I can't give two dellars toward buying bim a suit of clothes." The money was handed back.

THE SHIP YARD, -The ship yard presents quite a busy scene. Some thirty or forty men are engaged there, and new hands are being employed daily. VISCINIA MIDIAND RAHAGAD CASE.—
The long and helly contested suit against the W. C., V. M. & G. S. R. R. Co. has at length gard yesterday, and was harded up on the ways been preciscally ended by a decree, settling all priorities of lien, and ordering a sale of the road and its various branches to be made by John S. Barbour after fixty days' notice of the time, terms, place, &c., of sale.

Default having been made several years since in the payment of interest upon the bonds se-cured by several of the mortgages upon the several component parts of the road, and some of the mortgages having become due, some of the creditors of the road, finding that its operation was serious'y impeded by suits against it, and that it was the purpose of some its creditors to triog suit against it in the United States Court, brought this enit hurriedly and thus gave the State Court jurisdiction exclusively of the whole subject matier. Many novel and important questions have been settled during its progress. And among the most important the Baltimere &

Ohio Co. claimed that having advanced to the company several hundred thousand dollars to enable it to pay off a prior indebtedness to the State on secount of money loaned, that it was entitled to be subrogated to the State's lien upon the road; but Judge Keith decided that the policy of the law which authorized the purchase of its interest in the road forbade its purchase by any but the company-the debtor, and that the advances thus made by the B. & O. road were therefore simply an unsecured claim against the company, to be paid with its floating creditors. Many of the laborers and material men filed peritions against the road to compel the payment of their wages, &c., out of the carnings of the road or out of the proceeds of the sale. Saveral terms ago, the Judgo denied the prayer of these men, but a potition for a rehearing was First lady, in a low voice, to a man at the bench; filed and argued at this term of the court, based upon several decisions rendered by the U. S. Supreme Court since Judge Keith's decision. The Judge, however, adhered to his first ruling distinguishing between the claims at par and those passed upon by the Supreme Court. Judgo W. J. Robertson and J. R. Tucker also filed their petitions to be allowed a tee out of of the earnings of the read on account of services rendered the Manassas Gap Company, which services, it was claimed, the present company was responsible for. It appeared that these gentlemen received a judgment for the company for about $150,000, and that an appeal was taken from this decision by the defendant. l'ending this appeal and without notice to the court this suit was compromised for $25,000. It was decided that these gentlemen had no lien upon the company's revenues for their fees, but that they were simply unsecured creditors. The other questions in the cause were of no general mrortance.

> THE MARKET TO-DAY. -- The market to-day was only tolerably well attended. Early in the morning and late in the day it presented a rather bare appearance. The hucksters complained that there was very little money affeat, but looked for better sales in the evening. Prices remained about the same. There was no advance in the price of meat or poultry. Butter was a litter cheaper than last Saturday, some selling at 15 cents, and the best at 30. People seemed to be tired of turkeys, and meats were in better demand.

> Turlie Meeting .- It will be seen by notice disewhere that all the arrangements for the public meeting to be held next Monday night at Sarepta Itall, for the aid of the sufferers in Ireland have been completed. Quite a munber of distinguished speakers have been invited, and are expected to be present. The meeting, it is thought, will be a very interesting one.
